DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 13 recites that weight comprises a container. Is this container the same or different than the container that was previously described in claims 1-12? Clarification and/or correction are required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kott et al (4,750,967).

Kott et al teach an apparatus for forming a liner on a washbasin, comprising a container (60) defining a cavity (86), a seal (72, 56) forming a continuous seal with a bathtub liner (50), an electric heating element (78; col. 11, lines 63-65) which is located inside the top wall of the cavity, means for increasing pressure (a negative pressure, 96) to force the bathtub liner outwardly, away from the cavity and cover the bathtub, wherein the container (60) includes a top surface (76) and a plurality of side walls (82, col. 12, lines 8), which associated with the top surface (col. 12, lines 4-10) and defines a lower perimeter of the container, and the seal member (72) extending about the perimeter of the side walls (col. 10, lines 12-16); a portion (82) of the container comprises a transparent member (84) for visual inspection of the cavity (col. 13, lines 14-16).

The apparatus further comprises a kit of a plurality of width and length compensating members (62), in which the length of the kit is adjustable (col. 9, lines 45-54) to accommodate varying lengths of the bathtub, and the weight of the container pressing down on the liner enhancing the effectiveness of the seal member (col. 9, lines 3-5).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kott et al ('967) as applied to claims 1-10 and 12 above, and further in view of Niebling et al (5,217,563).

Kott et al disclose a molding apparatus as described above, but fail to disclose that the pressure means comprises an air compressor in fluid communication with the cavity of the container.

Niebling et al disclose a sheet forming apparatus comprising an air compressor (4), which is in fluid communication with a mold cavity (8) for pushing the sheet against a forming surface (6) during the molding process.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the applicant's invention was made to modify Kott et al by replacing the vacuum by the air compressor as taught by Niebling et al because when using the air compressor the sheet would be pushed against the forming surface without the need of drilling a hole in the bathtub to form an evacuation hole as in the case of using a vacuum.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claim 13 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to teach or suggest an apparatus for forming a bathtub liner comprising a container defining the molding cavity for thermoforming a sheet into the liner, a seal forming a continuous seal with the bathtub liner, a weight on the container to facilitate the sealing of the seal member, in which the weight comprises a fluid container having at least one inlet and outlet to control the amount of fluid inside the fluid container.
